Arson spreads to Lockport

LOCKPORT — Arson is, again, the suspected cause of a $1 million fire at the Fairmont Grade School, located at Nobes and Green Garden Streets, in an unincorporated area south of Lockport.

Matt Viscum, president of the Fairmont grade school board of education, estimated the loss to the building at about half a million, and contents another half million.

Viscum credits the Lockport Fire Department with saving the remainder of the building, containing about 12 rooms. "As a representative of the board and the district, I acknowledge a sincere vote of thanks to the Lockport Fire Department. They arrived just after 4 a.m. and stayed almost all last night.

"I had to holler at a few of them to get out of the way or they would have been hurt." Viscum was at the fire scene and added, "They did everything they should. No other fire department in the world could have helped it."

Viscum said that the board had not coordinated any plans at the present time, but a meeting would be planned soon. He added that the building was insured to the limit of the law.

The Joliet Diocese has offered help in the form of space, if available, at St. Dennis or St. Joseph grade schools in Lockport. Viscum said others had suggested using the old Central Grade School, currently vacant.

The cause of the fire is as yet undetermined, but arson is definitely thought to be responsible. When firemen arrived on the scene, the oldest section of the school which housed the cafeteria and resource center as well as classrooms, was engulfed in flames.

According to Lt. Vescovi of the fire department, a clock in the building was stopped at 3:40 a.m., giving the fire a 40-minute start before it was called in by the Will County Sheriff's Police.

Fire Chief Carl Munson believes arson is responsible, as when firefighters arrived, the front doors were broken and opened. The fire is being investigated by Munson, Deputy State Fire Marshal Arthur Weber and Raymond Bugnar, arson investigator.

Both Viscum and Elmer Wilhelm, superintendent of the school said every effort will be made to be ready for children who must start classes in a few weeks.

Fairmont School District is one of the poorest grade school districts in the state. It is in an unincorporated area and lacks industry sufficient to produce needed tax dollars.

The area does not have sewer and water service at the present time, although both Joliet and Lockport recently voted to participate in a HUD (Housing and Urban Development) program which will provide these services in the future.

Because of the water problem, water had to be brought in by tank trucks to fight the blaze. Sixty Lockport firemen and more than 50 men from other departments fought the fire, which took more than four hours to control.

Since the Fairmont fire, at least three other fires have broken out in the Joliet area, all thought to be caused by arson.

Lockport firemen attempt to control a blaze which did nearly a million dollars' worth of damage to Fairmont Elementary School south of Lockport. The firemen were two of 112 firefighters from nine different departments that answered the call. Lockport Fire Chief Carl Munson said he believes arsonists set the fire, adding the building to a long list of suspected arson cases in the area. (GRAPHIC Photo)

Lemont to start negotiations for State St. work

LEMONT — The village board of Lemont last Monday night authorized village engineer Joe Schudt to start negotiations with the state for improvements on State Street.

The work would include removing a hump north of the shopping center and widening it to four lanes to 127th Street or Arthur Street. Peifer Street west from Warner Avenue also will be curbed, guttered and widened, the board decided.

If the village and state agree on financing the project, it could be completed by 1971.

Voters okay Bolingbrook park district

BOLINGBROOK — Voters of Bolingbrook approved the area park district in a landslide vote of 9,394 to 352.

In the same referendum, the NOW team of park commissioner candidates was elected. They include Barbara Kovach, 729 votes; Donald Hunt, 720; Jim Kapla, 677; Chuck Grassini, 636, and William Green, 583.

Defeated candidates are Mary Ann Wolff, 410; Joan McGowan, 387; George Arnold, 265; Thomas Eggars, 229, and John Shields, a write-in candidate, 186.

The elected commissioners have the power to levy taxes, hire personnel and purchase land and equipment. The maximum possible tax levy without a referendum will be 15 cents per $100 valuation.

The area to be covered by the park district has an assessed valuation of about $30 million, which would yield a maximum $45,000 annually.

Expect lower tax rate for Mokena school system

MOKENA — The tentative budget for the Mokena Public Schools providing for expenditures totaling $667,931.00 will be on file in the lobby of the Mokena State Bank until Wednesday, Sept. 9 or the school district office during the same period. The board of education urges interested citizens to look at the budget and to attend the public hearing to be held Wednesday, Sept. 9, at Carpenter Street School beginning at 8 p.m.

The breakdown includes $526,952.00 for the education fund, which is used for salaries and educational supplies and expenses; $43,212. for the building fund, used for operation and maintenance of school buildings and sites; $58,145. for the bond and interest fund, which is used for retirement of bonds that were sold to build school buildings; $32,122. for transportation fund, to purchase and operate buses to transport students to and from school, and $7500. for Illinois Municipal Retirement Fund, to make retirement payments for employees other than teachers.

A board spokesman said that this budget will lower the tax rate a little, mainly due to the bond and interest fund. The assessed valuation has gone up significantly so that each taxpayer's share will be a little less to raise the required amount to retire bonds and interest due this year.

In addition the bond and interest fund has acquired some surplus revenue in it during the past few years due to some wise investments, so the board is asking the county clerk to temporarily lower the automatic levy so that the fund revenues will be reduced.

The Dist. 159 tax rate should be down approximately 10 cents per $100 of assessed valuation than last year, lowering the tax bill as far as District 159 is concerned. The board is pleased to pass this savings on to the taxpayer. Members point out that this money can be used for no other purpose, so the instruction of school districts will not be disturbed at all. They further point out that the relief may be somewhat temporary due to further growth predictions that will necessitate more buildings.

The community has always supported the schools needs and it is expected that the support will continue especially when citizens are aware that the board is making every effort to provide a good education for Mokena children, yet keeping the taxes down as much as possible," a board spokesman said.

Lemont told control of dogs will cost more

LEMONT — The village board was informed at its regular meeting July 27 that animal control and welfare services will cost more effective July 31.

Suburban Canine Control, the company presently serving Lemont, said rates would increase from $104 to $150 per month.

The board, at the suggestion of Trustee Dr. Barry Ladd that the police department pick up stray dogs and issue a summons to the owner, directed Police Chief Frank Sowa to check records and make a recommendation to the board.

In other action, the board approved a request from Mrs. Victor Splitt, a representative of the Lemont Garden Club, to plant 12 trees on village sidewalks on Stephen and Main Streets depending on a check of village liability and insurance coverage.

The club will raise the $700 needed for the trees and planter boxes through donations from local businessmen, Mrs. Splitt said. "Our town needs something to beautify it, and this is a start."

Annexation is main topic of Mokena village board

by Glenn Logan

MOKENA -- Annexation took the play away from the police business at a session of the Mokena village board last week.

Mayor Will Tuttle announced that Chief Wayne Ryder, four patrolmen and three women radio operators had resigned and the board accepted the resignations without comment.

Nor was there any comment from anyone in the audience, which included two of the former patrolmen, Dennis Ferocik and James Fetzner, and two of the radio operators, Mrs. Carolyn Reils, wife of Dale Reils, one of the officers who resigned, and Mrs. Gary Bednar, whose husband was the fourth patrolman who tendered a resignation.

Harold Fitch, who is temporary acting chief, and Patrolman Leonard Robbins, who remained on the job, gave Mokena a two-man force until the night of the village board meeting when another part-time patrolman was hired.

He is David Keller, a Rock Island railroad employee who served in the military police when he was in the armed services. He had formerly lived in Mokena for three years, Homewood three years and has now been a resident of Mokena again for the past five months. He is to begin training and will ride with Fitch or Robbins. The probationary period covers six months.

Trustee Anthony Dina, police commissioner, said that his wife, Mrs. Dina, Mrs. Fitch and Mrs. Doris Hendrick were being considered as radio operators but no action has been taken yet by the board.

The subject is said to have been brought up at an executive session following the regular board meeting, but their employment would have to come up at a public session of the board and none was held after the executive meeting, according to one of the trustees.

The board gave approval to an ordinance providing for a strip annexation of 191st St. to 80th Avenue and 80th Avenue north to I-80. This should put the village in position to bring in industrial or commercial developments which may be developed in that area, it was pointed out.

Cadet Cottingham, who attended the meeting as a representative of Brightwood residents said that a petition for annexation of that subdivision south of Hamilton Road was in order. Some of the residents, however, did not want to be annexed and placed in the position of paying taxes to the village before they got sewer and water. The current tax rate for the village of Mokena is 68 cents per $100 equalized assessed valuation, which would add $68 to a property with an assessed valuation of $10,000.

It has not been the policy of the village to extend sewer and water mains beyond the corporate limits. Mayor Tuttle also pointed out that if HUD grants funds to the village the Brightwood residents would benefit to the extent of getting half of the project paid for. He added that such funds could be used only inside the village.

As far as tax bills are concerned it probably would be 1972 before the Brightwood people received any, as tax bills are always behind.

Cottingham told the council to go ahead with the annexation plans. This one, Village Attorney George E. Sangmeister explained, will be going through circuit court and no election held. It probably will be months before annexation is a fact.

Trustee Kenneth Warning reported that the Mokena park district was preparing to put in a storm sewer to drain park lands and keep the water off properties on Scott Street.

Charles Riorda is prepared to grant an easement to launch the project and Sangmeister is to prepare the papers. Riordan offers the easement free but will benefit from having storm water diverted from his property. The sewer would be brought down Scott to LaPorte Road and then along LaPorte Road. It would cost the park district about $3,000 Warning said, and the village around $7,000. The village board will take action after the park board does.

The state's constant nagging about a polishing pond to augment the treatment plant's treatment of sewerage has prompted the village at the state's suggestion moved to acquire the land needed for a pond to augment sewage treatment.

Trustee Chester Ebert said it would be too expensive to tunnel under Wolf Road and locate the pond on the east side of that thoroughfare so the village will use the property owned by Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Mangun and Ann Hayes.

If the village attorney is unsuccessful in attempts to purchase the property the board indicated it would go through condemnation proceedings. The tract in question is 200 by 364 feet.

Representatives of the developing firm of Kauffman and Broad appeared before the board to request a rededication of the plat covering the second addition of Arbury Hills.

John Farnham, president of the Arbury School board of education asked K & B representatives if the developers would provide some aid for the school because bringing more people in will swell the enrollment.

An attorney for Kaufman and Broad, Stanley Grosshandler, told him the developers had no intention of doing anything for the schools. The support and operation of the schools was a community problem, not a subdivider's, and he had the supreme court decisions all neatly typed out and handed a sheaf of them to Village Attorney Sangmeister.

He told the board that Illinois courts had indeed ruled that a subdivider was under no obligation to the schools, and that it was also true that while the Mokena board had something to say about streets, sidewalks and other matters provided for in its subdivision ordinance, it had nothing to say about zoning, a fact already brought out by Grosshandler.

Sangmeister said the village could refuse to sign the plat and if it did K & B could go to court, but he was sure the village would lose the case.

K & B representatives said they intended to open other subdivisions in the Mokena area but would not say where. Trustee Edward Haislet said the village did not need Kaufman and Broad and suggested the village table the matter until the next

Bell begins project

LEMONT — Illinois Bell began a project to bury 900 feet of conduit in the Lemont area Tuesday.

The route of the conduit goes from Route 83 south along Bell Road just beyond Archer Avenue.

"Though no cable will be placed in the nine-duct concrete conduit at this time, the new ducts will be available for future cable requirements in the area," said Bill Cremer, local telephone manager.

John Burns Construction Company of Orland Park will place the conduit and construct two new manholes along the route. One will be placed just north of the intersection of Route 83 and Bell Road while the other will be constructed at the intersection of Archer Avenue and Bell Road.

Last year, 96.7 percent of all the cable Illinois Bell construction people installed went underground.

Sherman marched through Georgia but it took one of those music festivals to really rock it.

Power to the suburbs

By Congressional Quarterly

Washington — American suburbs, focal points of population growth in the past decade, will get political power to go with the people in the 1970s.

Census Bureau officials expect final returns from the 1970 Census to reveal that for the first time more people live in suburbia than in central cities or rural areas.

About three-quarters of the population growth in the past ten years took place in metropolitan areas, mostly in suburban rings around core cities, says Conrad Tauber, associate director of the Census.

The result, according to Professor Richard Lehne of Rutgers University, will be a jump in the number of predominantly suburban Congressional districts from 92 to 129 — a 40-percent increase.

Lehne expects the representation of central cities to decline from 106 to 100 and that of rural areas to drop from 181 to 144. Mixed urban-suburban seats will go up slightly, from 56 to 62, according to Lehne's projections.

Political experts disagree on the impact of the population changes on the two major parties.

Kevin Phillips, in his book, "The Emergins Republican Majority," predicted that most suburban areas would turn in Republican majorities in the future.

He based his prediction on his interpretation of the suburbanite as a social conservative opposed to the social welfare programs associated with the Democratic party.

Phillips, who was special assistant in 1968 to Nixon campaign manager John Mitchell, says that during prosperous economic times the suburban voter is less concerned with the pocketbook issues that might previously have turned him toward the Democratic party. Instead, the suburbanite is disturbed by campus disorders, high welfare spending and racial problems, Phillips says.

Republicans could attract suburban votes through a conservative approach to these issues, Phillips contends.

Another view of suburbia holds, however, that the suburbs are becoming more and more a mirror of American society.

A great variety of people are now living in metropolitan areas outside core cities, says Richard Scammon, Director of the Elections Research Center at the Governmental Affairs Institute.

Scammon, in an interview, said there are now working-class, middle-class, Catholic, Jewish, Italian-American, Irish-American and Polish-American suburban areas, among others.

Scammon cautions against applying a blanket definition to "suburb" as meaning an upper- or upper-middle income area. With a variety of ethnic backgrounds and income levels, the suburbs could be either Democratic or Republican strongholds or swing marginal areas, he says.

The suburbs are not the only areas experiencing population growth. Although most American cities have been losing people, others have been growing rapidly.

Cities in the so-called "sun belt" — Florida, the Gulf Coast of Mississippi, Texas, Arizona and California — are continuing to grow at an impressive rate, according to the census figures. Dallas, Texas, showed a 23-percent increase from 1960 to 1970, for example, and Sacramento, Calif., jumped 33.3 percent during that time period.

Houston, the most populous city in the South, became the first city in that region to top the one-million population mark.

Total preliminary census returns were available from 41 states by late July, but not from eight of the ten most populous states, including California, New York, New Jersey and Illinois. No figures are yet available on the total U.S. population.

The early returns show sharp population increases in suburban areas such as Jefferson County near Denver, Colo. The county gained 83 percent from 1960 to 1970. Another suburban area, Montgomery County, Texas, near Houston, showed a 74.1-percent increase during that decade while Washington County, near Portland, Ore., jumped 67.4 percent in population.

The preliminary figures also revealed that suburban St. Louis County, Mo., experiences a 34.5-percent increase while the city of St. Louis showed an 18.9-percent decline. The city of St. Louis, which is not included in the county, had a net loss of population totaling almost one of every five residents during the 10-year period.

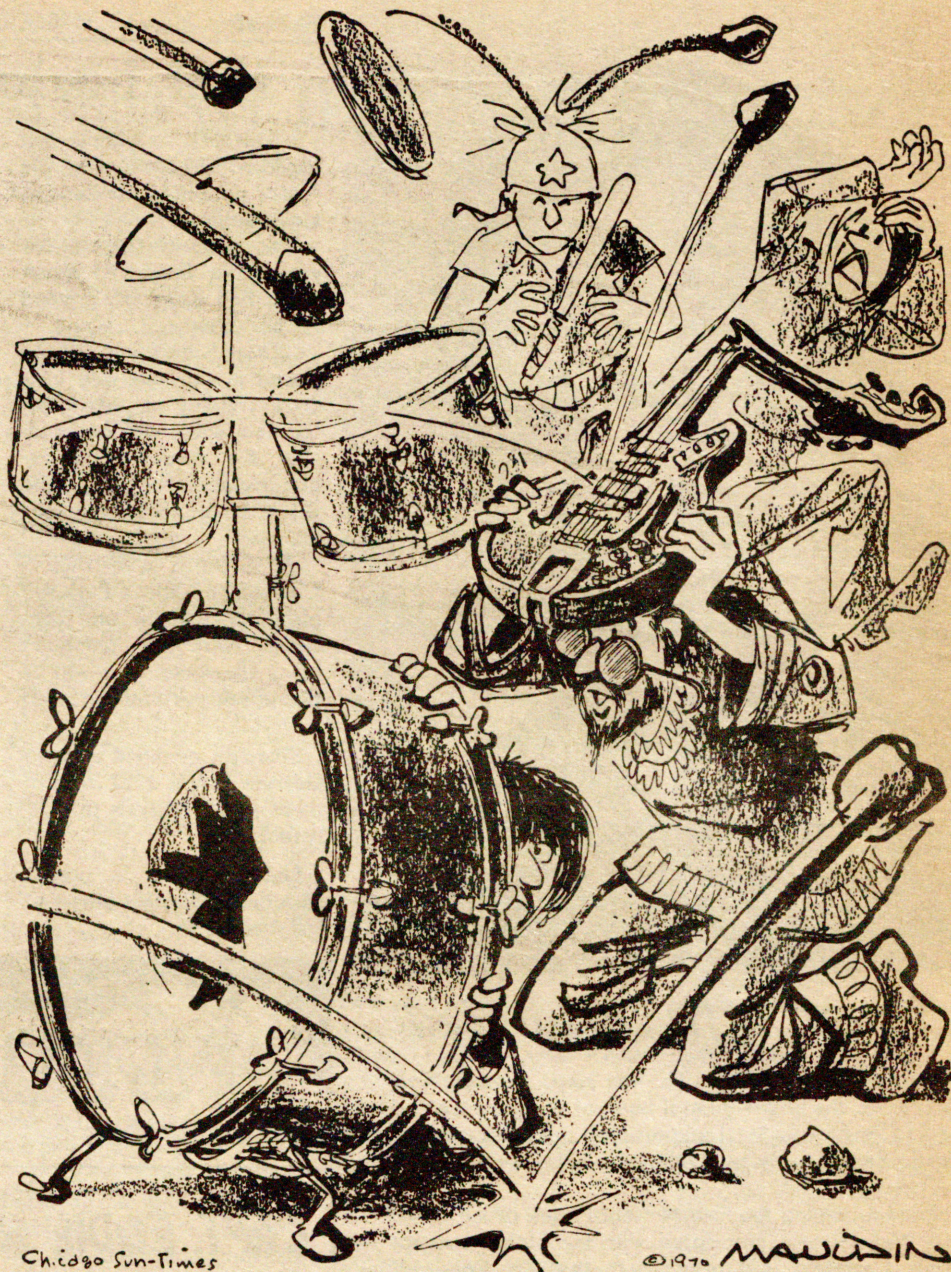

Rural and mining areas also suffered considerable population losses.

Thirty-nine of Alabama's 67 counties lost population, as did 78 of Iowa's 99 counties. The eastern portion of Kentucky, characterized by small farms and coal mines, lost 80,000 residents.

Growth in 11 of 12 southern states (with the exception of Florida) fell significantly below Census Bureau projections made in 1967 and estimates of population made in 1969.

Regional Census officials attributed the disparity to an out-migration of southern blacks and farmers. Another reason for the decline, officials say, was a drop in the average number of persons per household.

Hundreds of complaints have been registered with the Census Bureau about the 1970 count.

Voicing the loudest protests about inadequate counting are those areas which were reported to have lost population and cities which have not gained as much as they expected.

The outcry has been especially strong in the South. Southern cities generally have been growing in population since World War II. The 1970 Census will be the first experience for many of the southern cities in losing substantial population.

Letter

To the Editor:

Over the last weekend the people on the north side of Frankfort were practically driven from their homes by a rock band playing at the Phillips Chevrolet lot. We went out of town on Saturday and Sunday to get away from it as it evidently was not going to be stopped. I talked to a lady who foolishly gave her name when she complained to chief Massey. Know what he asked her? Should he go and ask them to play a Polka for her. Smart cop! Just why was this allowed for 4 days? Just why did the police chief, the mayor and village officials allow this racket? When Frankfort is invaded with the crowds that follow rock festivals and we are plagued by the troubles some of our neighboring towns are having, we can all thank our village officials.

Railroad crossing progress set

MOKENA - Village and county officials are reported to be nearer agreement on plans for the Hamilton Road crossing improvement, but it is probable they will have to return to the Illinois commerce commission for another hearing on the petition to install safety gates at the location.

Hamilton Road crosses the Rock Island right-of-way at the west edge of the village and at such an angle that it is difficult for a motorist to see approaching trains until it is almost too late.

The Hamilton Road crossing is in line to be improved after the Wolf Road crossing has been rebuilt. The Mokena Street crossing is now finished for traffic and the work has shifted to Schoolhouse Road crossing where gates are to be installed.

Previously the crossing was unguarded except for a bell that signalled the approach of trains. The township has jurisdiction over Schoolhouse Road but at the recent village board meeting it was said the village will share in the cost to the extent of some $3,000.

Wolf Road carries the bulk of traffic through Mokena.

Does physical damage insurance on a camper cost more or less than insurance on a car?

ANSWER:

It would depend on the value of the camper. That value would be the value of the vehicle to which it is attached plus the value of the camper body itself.

meeting to see if there is some way the village could have more to say about the development of subdivisions.

Trustee Ebert, head of the sewer and water committee, reported that in going over the records he had found some homes had had sewer service for 10 years but were never billed for it.

Sangmeister advised that these people be sent bills covering all the years they have been going for free.

Trustee Robert Teske, who presented detailed plans for the remodeling of the village hall, was instructed to get bids. The hall, as previously reported, is to be enlarged to provide more room for council meetings.

New Lenox grade board adopts 1970-71 budget

NEW LENOX — The New Lenox grade school board has officially adopted its budget for the fiscal year that began July 1, and runs to June 30, 1971. The total appropriation for the current year is $1,524,872.

This sum will cover the cost of operating the seven schools in Dist. 122 which provide educational programs for an expected enrollment of 2,100.

The major part of the expense is the educational fund from which teachers are paid and supplies and materials for operating the schools are purchased. The educational fund, as set forth in the budget, is $1,184,350.

The amount for the building operation fund is $99,500.

The transportation fund for the use of buses carrying pupils to and from school is set at $87,150.

Bonds and interest was appropriated $131,800.

The amount allocated to the Illinois Municipal Retirement fund is $14,300.

Placed in the site and construction fund is $7,772.

The new budget reflects an increase of 11 per cent over the 1969-70 budget. The increase is necessitated because of the employment of six additional teachers needed for the increased enrollment of 160-180 pupils, Supt. Arnold J. Tyler explained.

Also reflected in the increased budget is the rising cost of materials and services due to inflation, and salary and wage increases for teachers and employees of the district.

About 44 per cent of the funds received by the school district comes from local real estate, personal property, corporation taxes, and from fees from students. Approximately 66 per cent comes from state and federal sources.

Munch files petition for State Legislature

SOUTHWEST — Robert W. Munch, 28, formerly of Mokena and now in the plumbing, electrical and cabinet supply business with his father, Willard E. in Joliet, has filed his petition as a candidate for state representative in the 41st District. He has filed as a member of American Party, which he says is an outgrowth of the former Wallace Party.

Munch filed his petition with County Clerk Clara Hartley Woodard. It bears

5,600 signatures. He filed with the county clerk because the law requires an independent party candidate to file locally instead of in the secretary of state's office at Springfield.

His petition had to be signed by registered voters who did not vote in the 1970 primary, of a number equal to five percent of the total number of district voters in the 1968 general election. The total vote then was 91,966 so his petitions had to have 4,600 signatures.

Mrs. Woodard said that as an administrative official she will place Munch's name on the ballot. Should the legality of the petition be questioned the electoral board of the county would have to be convened to study it, it was said.

The Republicans candidates are Robert Blair, incumbent, of Park Forest, and George O'Brien, of Joliet. The Democrat nominees are John Houlihan, incumbent, and Leo Mehan, Joliet.

The announcement of Munch's candidacy was made in a previous issue.

Lewis College holds outing

LOCKPORT — Scores of Lewis College men and their families who flocked to the first Lewis Alumni Outing last year are planning to attend the second annual Lewis Alumni Outing Sunday, August 23 on the Lockport campus.

This year, arrangements are being made for a "throng" as alumnae of the College of St. Francis have been invited.

The event will open with a Folk Mass at Noon in Sancta Alberta Chapel, with an instrumental ensemble from St. Patrick's Church, Joliet, accompanying choral and congregational singing. The musicians will remain on the campus all afternoon as roving troubadours.

Balloons will be distributed, and free fire engine rides on the Lewis Volunteer Fire Department's well known "red wagon" are expected to delight the kiddies. An aviation display at Lewis Airport is scheduled, and sports for all is on the agenda—softball, volley ball, badminton, tennis. Photos of family groups will be taken at no charge.

All the food and beverages a family can consume will be available at $2.50 for adults, $1.00 for youngsters between 7 and 16, and nothing for toddlers under 7.

The Frankfort Frauleins 4-H Club had their Achieve-

The following Frankfort students were recognized for scholastic achievement for the second semester at Illinois State University; Carolyn Ahnquist, Gail Bettenhausen, Patricia Hart and Susan Semankovich.

A total of 246 youngsters participated in the Frankfort Community Park District Summer Recreation Program which opened on June 15 for 8 weeks. The program was under the leadership of Ray Webster and Marie Whitely and assisted by Diane Hossbach, Mike Hossbach and Bill Simpson. Youngsters living in the village of Frankfort met 4 days per week at the 18-acre park and Chelsea Grade School for organized games, fitness activities and arts and crafts. On Monday morning they swam from 9 to 11 a.m. at Camp Manitoqua.

Afternoons the youngsters grades kindergarten through third met in two locations. A program was organized at the Chelsea Grade School in Connecticut Hills subdivision for children living in that area and the park and Frankfort Grade School for those living in the village. They spent part of the 3-hour session in outdoor activities and recreation and the rest of the time in the school having arts and crafts and games.

Some of the fitness and recreational activities for the older youth grades fourth through eighth included archery, tennis, bait casting, softball and track. Arts and craft projects included weaving, model making and pop-square craft. Folk dancing, square dancing, rhythmic activities, volleyball, badminton, kick ball, horseshoes, jarts and relays were also available.

The Frankfort Chamber of Commerce is a non-profit organization of business and industrial leaders and interested citizens drawn together by a common interest: to make Frankfort a good community in which to live, work and gain a greater measure of enjoyment from all things that contribute to better living.

Among the projects the Chamber supports or encourages are the maintenance of plantings and rustic signs throughout the village and at the entrances to the village; introduction of good clean industry; development of shopping facilities; and of course the sponsorship of the 1890 Theme in construction and landscaping.

Ever since the Frankfort Chamber of Commerce and the village trustees realized the value of promoting the historic charm of our village through an 1890 Theme, rustic gaslights have been appearing in ever-increasing numbers. With the cooperation of Northern Illinois Gas Company, we are sponsoring a sale on gaslights during the month of August. These lights will be available at NIGas or B & M Lumber Company at special promotional prices starting at $27.95 plus installation.

The Chamber also promotes the village by giving its support to community activities such as the Frankfort Fall Festival, which takes place every year over the Labor Day weekend, and attracts many visitors from the Will and Cook County areas. We ask the support and enthusiasm of the residents of Frankfort in all of our activities, whether it be beautification of property, promotion of the many attractions of Frankfort to friends and acquaintances outside the village, or participation in events sponsored by the Chamber and our other community organizations.

Brook View open house

SOUTHWEST — Brook View School will have an open house on Friday, August 7, from 7:30 p.m. to 9 p.m. Classrooms and bulletin boards will show teaching materials and examples of class work by pupils. All the Brook View teachers in Groups A and B will be present to meet parents and other visitors and to discuss all phases of the academic program.

Brook View School has 16 classrooms and is identical in size and floor plan with Ridge View School in Hampton Park. Brook View School was finished in February of 1969. One of the purposes of the referendum on Saturday, August 15th is to provide for a 15 room addition to Brook View School.

Jamboree applications being taken

SOUTHWEST — Several Scouts have applied to represent the West Suburban Council Boy Scouts of America at the thirteenth World Jamboree to be held in Japan, August, 1971.

The council tentatively has reserved space for nine Scouts and one leader.

Additional applications are being accepted by the West Suburban Council Service Center, 811 West Hillgrove Ave., LaGrange, for the Jamboree. The 70-day trip will include an 8-day tour of Japan and a 9-day camp at Asagiri Heights in Shizuoka Prefecture on the west side of Mt. Fuji.

World jamborees are held each four years.

Annexation on agenda at District 92

LOCKPORT — The District 92 School Board of Ludwig, Reed and Walsh Schools in Lockport will discuss annexation proceedings to the city of Lockport at their Aug. 11 meeting at 7:30 p.m. in the Ludwig board room. The annexation involves two of the district's schools, Ludwig and Walsh.

Representatives of Lockport and the Bonnie Brae-Forest Manor Sanitary District have been invited.

According to a board spokesman, "When Walsh School was built, the school board had a choice of using city water and sewer or the sanitary district. The board chose to use city facilities. This apparently caused some ill feeling in the Bonnie Brae-Forest Manor area."

The purpose of the annexation is to lower water and sewer rates. Annexation will also provide more police protection.

A policy committee meeting has been called for 7 p.m., preceding the 7:30 p.m. session. Any interested citizen of the district is invited to both meetings.

The school board also seeks interested citizens to help in a forthcoming referendum. Plans for the referendum are not yet complete.

Illinois reduces rates on tollways

SOUTHWEST — Lower rates on Illinois tollways became effective as scheduled at 12:01 a.m. Saturday, August 1, Chairman Donald R. Bonniwell announced today.

The rate reduction, which will be 5 cents for passenger cars at most toll plazas, was made at the urging of Gov. Richard B. Ogilvie and will save the typical tollway commuter who uses the road both ways around 25 cents per day or, in some cases, as much as $50 a year.

Gov. Ogilvie said the cut in tolls, which averages around 15 percent, makes Illinois the first state in the nation to reduce rates, to the best of his knowledge.

He noted that the rate reduction action was taken here at a time when major toll roads in other states are making increases.

Gov. Ogilvie recommended that the Illinois State Toll Highway Authority continue an intensive study of the rate structure of the entire system "in the hope of an even further reduction in the future."

Chairman Bonniwell estimated it will require approximately two years of experience with the new rate schedule to be able to assess its full impact accurately.

The new rate for passenger cars will be 30 cents at all toll plazas that currently charge 35 cents. Passenger car tolls also will be reduced 5 cents at a number of off ramps that charge less than 35 cents.

Lower tolls will be charged smaller trucks — those with two axles and six tires, and three-axle trucks. No rate reduction was granted larger trucks with four, five and six axles. Rates were increased for trucks with seven and more axles, depending on the number of axles.

Trucks with two axles and six tires which have been paying 45 cents at main toll plazas, will be paying 30 cents as of August 1. Tolls for three-axle trucks, which have been 50 cents at main plazas, will be cut to 45 cents.

Bonniwell said the traffic on the 187-mile Illinois tollway system consists of 91 percent passenger vehicles and 9 percent trucks. Of the trucks, the number of users with seven and more axles is approximately 600 per year.

Specific recommendations for the new rate schedule, as required by the bond indenture that governs toll road operations, were made by Wilbur Smith & Associates of New Haven, Conn., consulting traffic engineers, and approved by Knoerle, Bender, Stone & Associates, Inc. of Chicago, consulting engineers.

Bonniwell said the overall cut in tolls, coupled with rate increases at six toll plazas serving three specific areas, for the first time in Illinois tollway history:

1. Equalizes charges as nearly as possible for all users of the road, and

2. Gives the Illinois tollway a very simplified toll schedule based on a combination of number of miles driven and number of axles per vehicle.

The new toll schedule August 1, thus, is 15 cents per axles at 18 main toll plazas, 10 cents per axle at seven other toll collection points and 5 cents per axle at six ramp locations.

The six plazas at which rates will go from 15 cents for passenger cars to 20 cents (10 cents per axle) are at routes 25 and 31 near Elgin on the Northwest tollway, the Farnsworth Ave. and Aurora exits near Aurora on the East-West, and the east-bound and westbound plazas at the Tri-State tollway interchange with I-80.

Santa Fe host to longest race

SOUTHWEST — More than 30 of Chicagoland's top clay track stock car chaffeurs will compete in the "Santa Fe 100" Saturday night, August 8.

The 50-mile main event on the half-mile clay oval will be the longest auto race held in the Chicago area this year. A 30-lap sportsman main event will also be featured on the Saturday night card. Time trials will begin at 8:30 p.m., one hour before race time.

Santa Fe Speedway also will host a 12-event stock car program Sunday night, August 9, spotlighting 25-lap late model and sportsman features on the quarter-mile clay oval; spectator races will be included on the Sunday show. The starting time will be 8 p.m. with time trials again preceding the opening race by one hour.

Late model point leader Dick Nelson of 4856 W. Division in Chicago will be favored to stretch his lead; however, any pre-face odds favoring Nelson are very slim considering the stellar field confronting the Chicago late model flyer.

Don Waldvogel, defending champion from Lockport, has been running well of late and has moved into the second spot. Larry Jackson of Lyons, whose 1970 Buick generally masters Santa Fe's half-mile oval, is sure to be a factor. Jim O'Connor, of Kankakee, who has purchased the auto driven by longtime Santa Fe star Bill Van Allen of Wautoma, Wisconsin, won last Saturday's main event and will challenge for the top spot.

Other drivers who eye victory in the "Santa Fe 100" include Van Allen, if he can get a ride, Earl Hubert of Aroma Park, Arnie Gardner from Batavia, Kenny Kuehn of La Grange, Danny Albrecht from 3965 S. Archer in Chicago, Wayne Etzel of Bourbonnais and Al Johnson of Justice.

Sportsman Point leader Ed Ferrell, with eleven wins already in the 1970 campaign, will try to add the 15-miler to his long list of sportsman successes. Challenges will be hurled by Bob Mann of La Grange, Buzz Collins of Downers Grove, Jim Loomis from Wheaton, Jerry Kling of Lemont, and Jim Kubik out of Lyons.

Married couples retreat

SOUTHWEST — A weekend retreat for married couples is planned for Friday evening, September 11 to Sunday noon, September 13 at the Community Center Foundation.

Resource leaders experienced in marriage counseling will help explore the five major problems in contemporary husband-wife relationship: the handling of money, the problem of sex, communications, competition for dominance, and discipline and handling of children's problems.

The idea of the weekend retreat grew out of a desire to withdraw from day to day pressures for a weekend of thoughtful consideration of the more personal aspects of living. Reservations are limited.

Miss Ordman to accompany pianist

AVA ORDMAN, 138th and State in Lockport, is a trombone player in the 118-member World Youth Symphony at the National Music Camp, the orchestra that is to accompany Pianist Van Cliburn in his benefit concert Saturday, Aug. 1, in Interlochen, Dr. George C. Wilson conduct. Cliburn, rounding out a decade of appearances here, will play Liszt's "Concerto No. 2 in A Major" and Rachmaninoff's "Rhapsody on a Theme by Pagnini." Another sellout of the 4,000 seat Kresge Auditorium is expected.

State releases dates for hunting, trapping

SPRINGFIELD — Hunting and trapping season dates have been approved by the conservation advisor board, according to Dan Malkovich, acting director of the Illinois Department of Conservation.

between the zones. Hunters may take five squirrels a day and retain ten in possession after opening day, Malkovich said. On opening day, the possession limit is five squirrels.

The season for cock pheasant, quail and Hungarian partridge will open at noon Saturday, Nov. 14, and end at sunset Thursday, Dec. 31. Daily bag limits are two cock pheasants, eight quail and two partridge. Possession limits are four cock pheasants, 16 quail and four partridge. On opening day, however, a hunter may not have more than the daily bag limit in his possession, Malkovich said.

Rabbit season begins at noon Saturday, Nov. 14, and ends at sunset Sunday, Jan. 31, 1971. Limits are five rabbits daily and ten in possession except on opening day when both limits are the same, five rabbits.

The hunting season for raccoon, opossum, skunk and weasel begins at noon Sunday, Jan. 31, 1971. Gray or red foxes may be hunted from noon Sunday, Nov. 1, until noon Monday, Mar. 15, 1971. Malkovich said there are no limits for fur bearers.

Foxes, raccoon, opossum, skunk, weasel, mink and muskrat may be trapped in the Northern Conservation Zone from noon Monday, Nov. 16, until noon Thursday, Dec. 31. Trapping season in the Southern Zone begins at noon Wednesday, Nov. 25, and ends at noon Tuesday, Jan. 5, 1971.

Beaver trapping season throughout Illinois will begin at noon Thursday, Dec. 10,

140th anniversary for Gougar family reunion

Delores Anderson
Telephone 485-2365

Sept. 10, 1830, was the date that William Gougar, accompanied by his eldest son, John, first set foot on the land now known as Gougar's Crossing. On Sunday,

New Lenox

Aug. 9, at 2 p.m. the descendants of this hardy pioneer family will gather at the historic old homestead on Hickory Creek to celebrate the 140th anniversary of that event. Although much of the land that made up the Gougar farm has passed to other hands, the sturdy old home and the few immediately surrounding it are still in the possession of Gougar descendants.

The annual Gillette Reunion was held July 12, in the Haley Park in Marley, Ill. with about 40 members of the family present. A picnic dinner was enjoyed by all at 1:00 p.m. All family members not present surely missed a good dinner and wonderful day. After a picnic dinner, a short business meeting was called by Mrs.

Burton Gillette of New Lenox, secretary, at which time gifts were given to the two senior members of the family present, Mrs. Emma Gillette, Lockport, and Mrs. Marie Gillette of Marley.

The two youngest members present were Adrienne Kay Caneva, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Reno Caneva, Lockport, and Mark Fears, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lee Fears of New Lenox. Use liens to collect for mowing MOKENA — On a motion by Trustee Edward Haislet, the village of Mokena has adopted a new policy on weed cutting.

The village will continue to cut weeds on premises where the owner will not or cannot cut them and send them a bill for the service. That has been the custom for some time. Now if the bill is not paid promptly the village will file a lien against the property.

An ordinance to this effect is to be drawn by Village Attorney George E. Sangmeister.

"There's no use sending a bill unless we intend to get action," said Haislet.

The Lockport Plant contributed significantly to this award with a Disability Frequency Rate of 2.14.

The Lockport Police Department has been checking vehicles in the city which do not have a current vehicle sticker displayed. The checks revealed many residents have purchased stickers, but have not placed them on their windshields.

Under a Lockport city ordinance, failure to display a current sticker constitutes a violation of the ordinance and makes the owner liable for a $5 fine per day for each day the sticker is not displayed.

The department began issuing arrest tickets last Saturday, Aug. 1. If you have a sticker, better get it on the car. If you don't have one, they're available at the City Hall on State Street.

Introducing Topline.[®]

The first bank account that looks at money from your point of view.

The way you handle money

This little diagram shows how you try to manage your money. This is how you do it, whether you know it or not.

The diagram says that the only time your money is really wasted is when it's standing still. Like in a mattress, or a cookie jar. Since nobody wants to waste their money, all the money in the diagram is shown either coming or going. That's how your money really behaves.

Your money in checking isn't standing still. Obviously. But the money in savings isn't standing still either. In the first place, it's earning interest. In the second place, it's just money that you're going to spend later. Or much later.

This all-at-once way of looking at your money is called cash-flow thinking. If you think this way, you can keep more of what you make and make more of what you keep.

Understand cash-flow and you'll see how your money goes. You'll be able to make little adjustments in the flow and know what you're doing.

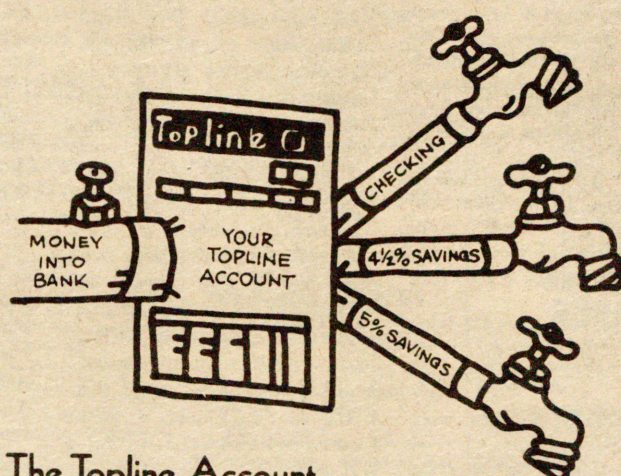

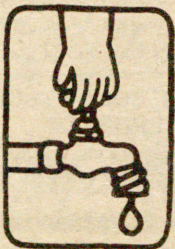

Soon, you'll be planning more successful savings programs. You'll be funneling more of your extra savings into higher interest savings programs.

You won't have dead money sitting in your checking account and not earning interest.

In short, you'll know what you're doing with your money. And that's like having more money.

Unfortunately, only about one in seven people you know have any idea of how much money they have to spend and how it goes.

That may be the fault of the banks.

The Topline Account

Most banks are organized for their own convenience. Checking on one floor with one set of stationery and computers. Savings somewhere else. And so on and so forth. Each month, you have to translate from their point of view to your point of view. Just to know where you stand.

Topline eliminates that job, along with a lot of lesser headaches.

With a Topline account, you sign one form, get one combination check and savings book and one statement each month. And that statement is almost exactly parallel to your personal cash-flow statement if you were to do the book work yourself. (Just compare the two diagrams.)

You can have automatic savings taken from your checking account and have it shown on your Topline statement. You can even pay certain loans automatically through your Topline account.

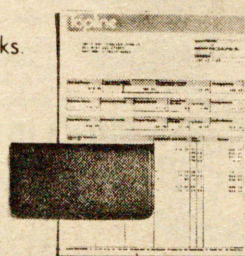

You also have a monthly record of your savings accounts' interest payments.

In fact, now that we have the basic Topline system down, it's just a matter of time to see how many other of your financial transactions you can coordinate through your Topline account.

Topline puts all your eggs in one basket. Where you can keep a close eye on them.

To repeat, once you know what you're doing with your money, it's like having more money.

And that's what Topline is all about.

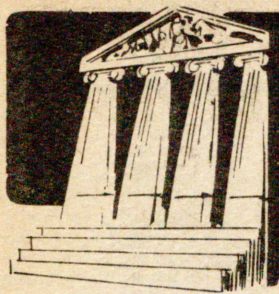

Topline[®]

Know what you're doing with your money.

Pick up bright dividends from the summer sunshine -- by installing a window box garden on a sun-spattered windowsill! Fill your box with the gay flowers of summer -- petunias, marigolds, pansies -- and paint it a gay color to match. Sun-warmed flower shades like morning-glory blue, marigold yellow, or pansy purple will make a delightful combination with flowers -- brightening your windowsill and your day!
